

ABSTRACT

Plural keywords for a search character string are searched for through a dictionary-content data memory and displayed in a list form in a left area of the searched-keyword list display screen, and heading data included in explanation contents concerning the keywords are read out from a keyword table to be displayed in a right area of the display screen. When a keyword is designated among the plural keywords displayed in a list form, heading data contained in plural explanation contents concerning the designated keyword are read out from an explanation data table and are displayed in a list form over the heading data displayed in the right area.
